MONDAY, AUGUST 19, 1861. THE GAME TO BE PLAYED BY SECESSION. ISTS.-When we think of all the successive steps in this iniquitous secession movement the means which have been used to mislead and dupe the people, the wholesale lying and deception which the conspirators have resorted to in order to keep up a reign of terror whereever secession prevails, thereby depriving the people of all chance to know the real condition of public affairs, we are amazed that there are any Kentuckians who desire secession to ob tain a foothold in Kentucky. But there are quite a number who do, and many of the leaders in Kentucky are as unscrupulous and dishonest as their colleagues in the Cotton States. They do not hesitate to send out to the country any sort of fabricated tale in order to ex cite alarm and terrify the masses. The editor of the Cynthiana News has caught the disease which prevails amongst the secession leaders. In his last issue he deliberately puts forth these wholesale slanders upon the Union troops assembled in Garrard county.

OUTRAGES .- We have been informed that Lincoln's soldiers now encamped in and about Gar-rard county, many of whom are from Ohio and Pennsylvania, having emigrated to this State in small numbers, in citizens' garb, to keep down ion of affairs brought about by the false cry or bion. A day of retribution is near at hand d wee to men in this State who have insti-

Now we venture the assertion that the Edit or of the News received no such information as he pretends to have received. He got the idea from his own secession brain; there is not a particle of truth in the charge he prefers against the Union troops in Garrard. These troops are all Kentuckians. They are honest, hard-working, industrious, sober men-a band of men of whom any State may be proud-who have chosen to assemble under the flag of their country and upon their own soil for the defence of it and themselves from any invasion or agsion by enemies within or enemies without Most of them are the brave, hardy sons of the mountains who know their rights and dare maintain them on Kentucky soil or elsewhere maintain them on Kentucky soil or elsewhere. They are too brave and manly to "enter the homes of inoffensive citizens and insult therr wives and daughters, and maltreat the old men, and appropriate provisions, &c., to their own use without remuneration." No part of these villainous charges is true, and all men should know they are not. It all the elements of character which constitute the true and genuine Kentuckian, the Union troops in Garard and Lincoln counties will compare most favorably with the like number of secessionists picked from any portion of Kentucky. The Editor of the Cynthiana News would no more call one of them, to his face, "an unhung secondare," than he would dip his head in molton iron.

The object of the News is very apparent. The Editor desires to arouse against those Union troops wide-spread prejudice and thereby damage the cause in which they are enlisted. The same game has been played throughout the whole South. As soon as the war commenced, all the Union papers from the North were prohibited from entering the Confederate States. Not even the Union papers of Keutucky can be transmitted to their subscribers in the South. And as to Union papers in the secoding States, hence we nown the law on the law of the more than of the interest on the law of the more than of the interest of the more than of the interest of the more than the more than of the more than of the more than of the more than the more than the more than of the more than of the more than the more than the more than of the more than the more than the more than They are too brave and manly to "enter the violent death. In this way, the people of the seceding Statess are in Egyptian darkness in regard to the rest of the world, except so far prints that dare not publish anything calculated light. It is thus that the people of the South well as calculated to excite the bitterest hate and a reign of prejudice ever existed anywhere in the world, it exists in the seceding States. aroused in the seceding States towards the U. S. troops, all the secession papers will at once the end they desire. The News further says: as these secession peace-makers in a proper

Here is a direct invitation to Gov. Magoffin

Missouri—issue a proclamation calling on the people of other States to help him make war on the Kentucky United States troops upon the soil of Kentucky. The proposition is fiendish and devilish in the extreme.

None can pretend that those troops are encamped in Garrard county in violation of any Foderal law. None but a fool would assert that they are violating any State law.

And we have therefore to say to the News and all others concerned that when they or persons from "any other State" shall attempt to drive from Kentucky soil "at the point of the bayonet" or otherwise Kentucky Union men, here assembled under the flag of their country for the defence of the State in which they live, they may expect to have to meet in men, here assembled under the flag of their country for the defence of the State in which they live, they may expect to have to meet in such an undertaking the 100,000 gallant and brave Union men of Kentucky. It has come to a nice pass indeed if Kentucky can be insulted and outraged in every conceivable form by Tennessee, and threatened with invasion from that quarter, and yet Kentuckians are not to be permitted to assemble upon their own soil under the national flag for their defence and protection. If Kentucky is to be invaded by Confederate soldiers because some of her people choose thus to act, let us know it now.

We never advised the mustering of the Union troops in Garrard county; we do not say that it was advisable; we don't know whether it was or not; but we do know that it was and is in violation of no law of either the Federal Government or of the State Government, and that it is regarded, by those engaged in it, as a necessary measure of self-defence. Then let those beware who would forcibly interfere with it. The existence of the troops in Garrard is a fixed fact, which no

We suppose the meaning of this is, that all he people of the seceding States are to be equired, within the period specified, to forwear allegiance to the United States and to swear allegiance to the Government of the Southern Confederacy, and, that every man is to be treated as an alien enemy who shall decline to do this.

Every word of the letter above is true. Its author is thoroughly reliable. What a condition of things it discloses. Two hundred and thirty Union men, refugees by night through the mountains from three counties of East Tennessee, encamped in the woods or fields a mile from Monticello, as homeless as the winds of heaven, and a hundred and sixty more on their way from the same counties, all resolute ntaineers, guilty of no crime, and seeking an asylum from oppression and outrage at the hands of the Confederate troops quartered in and around what were lately their homes. East Tennessee may be subjugated, but subjugation eems likely to fall little short of desolation. The forcible seizure of Col. George Bridges pon the soil of Kentucky by a company o cavalry from Tennessee has been duly set forth in our columns before. It is a deed which Governor Magoffin cannot pass by without shame to his high office. But it is only one of a series of deeds that Tennessee and Tennesseeans have been perpetrating for months past against the sovereignty of Kentucky and the rights of Kentuckians. A Kentucky boat seized upon the Mississippi river and her whole cargo detained and most of it confiscated-all Kentucky navigation and commerce driven from that river-a Kentncky steamer seized upon a river in Kentucky without having been for a moment out of the limits of Kentucky-Kentucky cannon and small arms stolen at night from a Kentucky town by Tennesseeans and carried away to Tennessee-the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company's rolling the robbery of $11,000 of the money of the Kentucky banks from Adams's Express-and Franklin and Col. LOOK AT THIS, OH, YE KENTUCKY SE-ESSIONISTS -We all know what groans and shrieks and yells and curses our secessionists have been uttering because trunks have been ubjected to examination here to prevent contraband trade. They have expressed indignation, rage, and horror. They have said that no free people would submit to such outrages. They have raised the cry "to arms"! They have talked of guns, bowie-knives, and infer-

When the Southern States asserted their independence, the Government at Washington refused to recognize their action, and by waging war against them, abducated all rightful authority over them.—Courier.

We suppose then that if, when the Southern States asserted their independence, the Government at Washington had not refused to recognize their action, in other words had recognized their independence, it wouldn't in the Courier's opinion have abdicated its authority over them.

The secessionists of Kentucky have for months been working desperately to get the state into war. Failing to do it by any other cans, they are now trying to accomplish the object by pretending to be great friends of peace. Now don't they cut a pretty figure?

The people in the Cotton States say they are fighting for freedom. They may well do so, for they have lost all the freedom they ever had. But they had better fight the destroyers of their freedom than those who would gladly restore it to them.

Nor have they published Mr. Crittenden's earnest denunciations of that measure, although they usually publish everything emanating from that distinguished statesman.—Courier. Isn't that "distinguished statesman" the same distinguished statesman that the Courier not long ago sneered at as an old dotard?

The Lincoln organs have made false statements to often that they are beginning to believe their worn lies.—Courier.

THE PIECE MEETING -The outrageon use of the names of Messrs, Wm. P. Campbell, Daniel Spalding, Wm. Terry, and D. B. Leight, as a part of the Executive Committee of the discomfitted secessionists at the Courthouse, demands an apology. The gentlemen of whom we speak are all uncompromising Union men, and the secessionists undertook to make tools of them by a series of false pretences. They knew that the meeting was to be at the Court-house and they intended to be at it. The three first we have heard from, and some of them were assured that the Hon. Jas. H. J. Monsch. Continued until Monday. Guthrie was to be on the Committee; it was urged upon all of them that there would be a large number of Union men at the meeting; that they were Christians and ought not to refuse to serve their country. General Nathaniel Lyon.—Brigadier-General Lyon, late commander of the Missouri volunteers, and slain at the late battle near Springfield, graduated at West Point in 1841, and since
Captain in the Second Infantry. He was in the wars of Florda, Texas, California, Oregon, and Kansas. In Mexico he accompanied Gen. Scott's division, and was breveted in 1847 for gallant and meritorious conduct in the battles of Contreras and Churubusco. He was wounded at the Belen tion of Gen. Sigel in the first place, who fired it—they themselves completing the work afterwards rather than suffer it to fall into the hands of the Ution forces.

The battle was a bloody one. According to the estimate of our informant, who derived his information from a very reliable scurce, the Union troops suffered a loss of 650 killed and 1,000 wounded. Gen. Sigel is bringing with him 200 of the wounded, and the remainder were left in theachurches and other public buildings at Springfield. On the side of the invaders the lose is put shown at 2,000 killed and 3,000 wounded. The a tartlery did tremendous kavoc among them, But the most sanguinary part of the fight was between a Mississippi Regiment and the Kansas Regiment. The returns of the mortality in the Kansas Regiment and the Kansas Regiment not more than forty in asswered to roll call after that fatal day. For all essential purposes—in the number killed and wounded—in the destruction of all the baggage train of the invaders—the victory was a substantial one to the Union army.
As stated yesterday, the body of General Lyon

His experience well fitted him for a campaign such as that of Missouri; and he died at the age of forty-two, a thorough and accomplished soldier.

Gen. Lyon was born in Ashford, Connecticut, the son of a respectable farmer. His mother was of the Knowlton family, to which one of the distinguished officers of the Revolution belonged, Colonel Knowlton, commander of the Connecticut troops at Bunker Hill, afterward slain at the battle of Harlem Heights, New York.

My account of the great battle published the My account of the great battle published this morning being necessarily incomplete, as regards the interesting details connected therewith, I take this the first opportunity to supply the deficiency. First, I am fully satisfied from conversation with Gen. Sigel and Col. Salomon, as well as from my own observation, that the eastern division did not make any attack until the roar of Totten's artillery announced that Gen. Lyon was upon his ground. The battle then commenced at six o'clock and ten minutes, and lasted until eleven, Gen. Lyon having been killed very soon after nine o'clock.

clock. Twice during the exhausting struggle, by eeming mutual consent, the hostile armies rest-d for nearly half an hour, after which the battle aged with increased vigor.

After complimenting the various officer who participated in the fight, the writer says:

At 11 o'clock the ambulances having been filled with our wounded were moved toward the city. The body of Gen. Lyon had been placed in one of them, but, without being uncovered, no one knew that the remains of the gallant hero of Booneville and Camp Jackson were lying beneath that martial cloak, and it was unfortunately removed to give place to those who were wounded. It was afterwards obtained, and after being laid out and dressed in a new uniform belitting his rank, I looked upon the pale face of the dead. Numberless incidents tend to show that the rebels are on the eve of attacking our lines. Last night it was discovered that the rebel lines had been advanced in all directions towards the Potomac. Their force at Fairfax C. H. has been largely increased. Heavy forces have been thrown out on all the roads. A large body is proceeding towards the Point of Rocks. Their southing parties are in the immediate vicinity of proceeding towards the Point of Rocks. Their scouling parties are in the immediate vicinity of our line along the whole extent of the Potomac. The rebels in Baltimore to-day received intelligence that the rebels were then marching upon Washington, and the information was published in an extra. It is thought that they were only

A Regiment of Negroes.

One of a regiment of negroes who took part in the battle of Buil Run, at which time he made his escape and has since wandered about until he got within our lines, ascerts that there are in the rebel army in Virginia 2,000 or 3,000 negroes armed with Hall's rifles. Most of them are from further South than Virginia. The negroes from dewn South have been taught that they would be butchered if they fell into the hands of the Unionists, but those picked up in Virginia have a different idea and would all run away if they could.

Attack on Fortress Monroe Contemplated.

A flag of truce is just in from Norfolk with Corporal Hurburt of the Connecticut Regiment, released for attention to Col. Gardner after the battle of Bull Run. He states that a considerable number of released prisoners, including several chaplains, will reach Old Point to-morrow. He thinks the Confederates are preparing to attack Fortress Monroe. That measure is now popular in the Confederate camp and appropriate material is collected in large quantities at Norfolk. The attack will be made within a week, he thinks.
